

Jurgen Lucas, European Commission, Belgium

Dr Jürgen Lucas studied Food Science and Nutrition at the University of Bonn (Germany), and Food Science and Technology at the University of Gent (Belgium). After his thesis on food irradiation detection, he worked as an Assistant Professor at the Institute of Food Technology at the University of Bonn in the field of food biotechnology. Since 1998 he has been working as a Scientific Officer at the Directorate-General for Research and Innovation of the European Commission for food-related research activities within the Framework Programmes 4, 5, 6, 7 and Horizon 2020. He has been Deputy Head of Unit “Agri-Food Chain” since 2009.