

Serafim Bakalis, University of Birmingham, UK

Prof. Serafim Bakalis has obtained a BS in Chemical Engineering from National Technical University of Athens, Greece and a PhD in Food Science. He is currently holding a research focused academic post in the School of Chemical Engineering in University of Birmingham. His interests are in investigating transport properties of processes using a range of experimental and numerical techniques.